2

World-Changing Men Listen to Those Who Are Hurting

2

World-Changing Men Listen to Those Who Are Hurting

A. A real man pays attention to the hurting people in his life and doesn't dismiss them.

2

World-Changing Men Listen to Those Who Are Hurting

- A. A real man pays attention to the hurting people in his life and doesn't dismiss them.
- B. A real man lets himself feel the pain of others.

2

World-Changing Men Listen to Those Who Are Hurting

- A. A real man pays attention to the hurting people in his life and doesn't dismiss them.
- B. A real man lets himself feel the pain of others.
- Practicing empathy can evoke feelings of anger. A real man has righteous, not unrighteous, anger.

3

World-Changing Men Confront the Wrong Around Them and in Them

3

World-Changing Men Confront the Wrong Around Them and in Them

A. All confrontations with injustices must be self-controlled. Like Nehemiah, we need to think before we act.

3

World-Changing Men Confront the Wrong Around Them and in Them

A. All confrontations with injustices must be self-controlled. Like Nehemiah, we need to think before we act.

- Men and women both get angry, but studies show that men tend to act out in more aggressive ways.

- Men and women both get angry, but studies show that men tend to act out in more aggressive ways.

B. If you are willing to confront the wrong in others, you must be willing to confront the wrong in yourself.

- Jesus reinforces this practice of self-assessment before we look at the sins of others:

3

World-Changing Men Confront the Wrong Around Them and in Them Continued...

- Personal humility is necessary when confronting someone else's sin. Before you judge the sin of another, first repent of the sin in your life.

4

World-Changing Men Sacrifice Their Lives and Resources for the Benefit of Others

4

World-Changing Men Sacrifice Their Lives and Resources for the Benefit of Others

- A. Putting your needs behind the needs of others is a mark of a world-changing man.

- Such sacrifice shows that you are thinking like Jesus.

B. Using what God has blessed you with to bless others is a mark of a world-changing man.

- The early church modeled what many of us miss: communal generosity.

4

C. Communal living should ultimately be driven by a reverence for the God who created you and those you are sacrificing for.

- Generosity starts with an orientation to God and then produces a generous heart toward others.

5

World-Changing Men Give the Glory to God

5

World-Changing Men Give the Glory to God

A. God is your great rewarder.

5

World-Changing Men Give the Glory to God

A. God is your great rewarder.

- Real men focus on living Coram Deo (before the face of God). They want to live for God—they are not worried about the approval of man.
